

AN ACHIEVEMENT OF OVER A CENTURY OF BEVERAGE MAKING

When Dolly Madison stopped the dance!

WHEN DOLLY MADISON stopped the dance to welcome the tidings of Stephen Decatur's victory over the Macedonian, the brilliant throng drank to the glory and fame of the new born navy.

When the "second war of independence" brought victory to the arms of America and glory to her sons, John A. Delatour, in his little plant in Manhattan, had successfully laid the foundation of the great industry that for more than a century has supplied pure, sparkling beverages to cool the parched throats of good Americans.

Since 1808 the firm founded by Delatour has continued unswervingly in the improving of its product, attaining a glorious climax in the delicious excellence of the pure, sparkling beverage you know as

AMERICA'S DRINK—The Ultra of Ginger Ale

AMERICA DRY GINGER ALE

Fulfillment

Until you put your lips to a glass of clear, sparkling America Dry Ginger Ale you will not know how wonderfully good and refreshing ginger ale can be.

Made from tender young ginger root and the purest of sparkling water, with fine granulated sugar and the blandest of flavoring, America Dry is a beverage to serve when one desires to please the palate of an honored guest, or to create an atmosphere of gratified content. It blends perfectly with other beverages.

Because the formula that produces this ace of ginger ales, America Dry, is the result of tabulated experiment, its quality never varies. Every bottle bought anywhere contains the same full quantity of smooth, thirst quenching goodness, ready to bubble up in your glass and greet you with an appetizing bouquet over the rim.

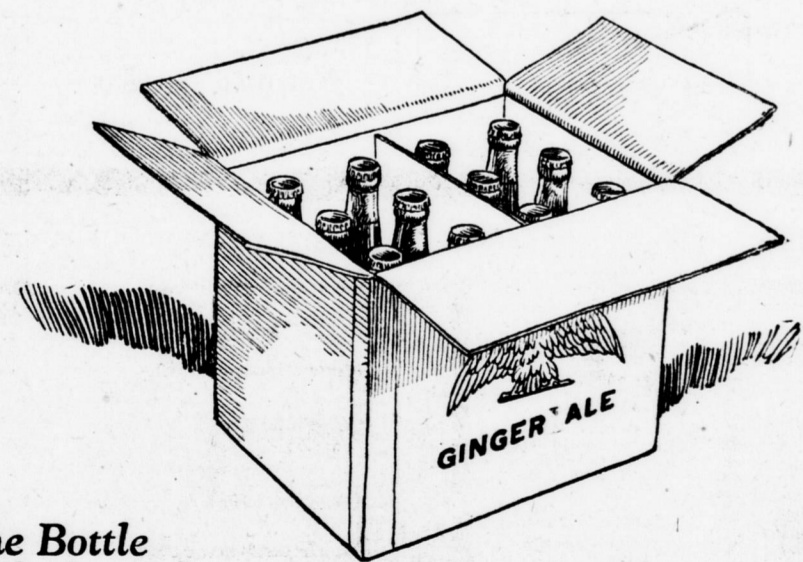

You know you are buying supreme satisfaction when you pay for a bottle of America Dry Ginger Ale.
